

Do you know the secret of Bitburger's signature hops? Locally grown hops from Holsthum, near Bitburg!

At Bitburger, we have committed ourselves to the highest quality standards for over 200 years. By keeping this promise, we have made our beer unmistakable and unique in taste. This is why we buy our hops exclusively from Hallertau in Bavaria, which is one of the largest continuous hop-growing areas in the world, and from Holsthum, which is near Bitburg in the Nationalpark Südeifel. We select these signature hops according to our own quality requirements and submit them to rigorous on-site quality inspection.

BITBURGER SIEGELHOPFEN • MIT HALLERTAUER UND

We use only what we would call the best and finest hops for our Bitburger hop blend. We are especially proud of the Bitburger signature hops, which are diligently grown by the hop-farming Family Dick just a few kilometres away from the brewery and exclusively used by us for our beers. This special blend of signature hops from both Hallertau and Bitburg, our natural yeast and our spring water give Bitburger its refined note and its unique taste. And, for that reason we say, Bitte ein Bit.
